When Joseph Hall was arraigned before Justice Watson, in the Ewen Street Police Court, yesterday, to answer to the charge of shooting with into kill, he was represented by John Roesch. He appeared indifferent and smiled at those around When asked what his business was, he repiled that he was a man of leisure, while his brother was engaged in business. He gave his address as Harrisburg. Penn., but his counsel said he came from siton, a small town near Harrisburg. The prisoner is thurty-two years old, and was stylishly dressed. His brother Robert, who was with him when the oting occurred, was also arraigned on the charge of carrying concealed weapons. Counselor Roesch endenvored to secure the discharge of Robert, on the was in any way connected with the affray.

The charge against this prisoner," said the lawyer, "is an ordinary offence, and a slight fine is imposed. I ask that this fine be named, so that my client may not be deprived of his liberty any The magistrate then called Policeman Cusick, who made the arrest, and asked for a statement. The officer replied that they may be able to prove that he was an accessory to the crime.

"What we can do is only speculation," angrily replied the magistrate, "the only charge now before the court is one of carrying a revolver." Justice Watson then adjourned the case until to-tay, when the prisoners will have a chance to plead to the charges against them. When Joseph Hall was seen later by the reporter said he had gone to Elizabeth on active business, when he met Phillips in Ryan's Hotel. Phillips approached him and asked him if he wanted to buy some of the "stuff." He replied that he did not, and Phillips followed him to his room in the hotel, where he still urged the question. He finally consented to accompany Phillips to New-York. His brother, who was with him, went with them. They were taken to a liquor store in the neighborhood of Thirty-secondst, and Seventh-ave., where they were introduced to Wagner, and agreed to look at the "stuff" in the evening in Greenpoint, where they were to meet Wagner. Hall said he had heard of Wagner before, through a circular that he had received, bearing Wagner's name, offering to sell a lot of the "staff"

When he reached the Greenpoint restaurant with his brother, Phillips was there. They had some supper and sat talking for an hour when Wagner appeared and told him that the "green goods" was in a carriage avoided the corner. He accompanied him, leaving his hother and Phillips Calking together. He says he was robbed at that time, and received a satchel containing the half a brick. When he reached the restaurant his brother and Phillips were still there. He at once accused Phillips of being an accessory to the robbery, and rose from his seat at the time and approached him.

"It was then I drew my revolver and fired," said he has I believed that he had a knife and would kill me." and sat talking for an hour when Wagner appeared and

Phillips during his conscious moments tells a different story. He says that Hall entered the restaurant in a great state of excitement, and approaching him drew a revolver and exclaimed: "My Got, I have been robbed."

"He thordshed the revolver about my head," continued Phillips, "and I told him not to shoot, as I was unarmed. I saw that he was in a great state of excitement, and I tried to reach the door of the restaurant. As I did so, four shots were fired in rapid successed. If was the last shot that struck me."

He denied that he had had any structle with his sessition. The police have not as yet been able to find any trace of Wagner or the man whom he introduced to Hall in the carriage as his uncle. Phillips refuses, it is said, to give any information that would lead to their arrest.

At the time of shooting James Gunyon, the proprieter of the restaurant, was in the kitchen. He said he heard lond talking, and when he came into the dialng-room Hall was firing his revolver. He went to the street by a side door, and ran to the station house and informed the police.

A saplent Central Park policeman accomplished the feat. Mr. Morris is a regular attendant at the West Presbyterian Church, Forty-second-st., between Flith and Sixth aves., of which Dr. John R. Paxton is pastor, and just before 11 o'clock yesterday morning he left his home, the Hotel Beresford, Eighty-first st., for the forenoon service. Mr. Morris's way led him through the Seventy-second-st. entrance to the Park, and he noticed that the centre of the narrow pathway was filled with soft mud-an accumulation of Saturday's of gravel and stone which form the gutter of the way But a Park ordinance forbids that any one shall walk gutters, and a Park policeman who saw Mr. Morris knew it. "Kim, git out of that!" he yelled, with a wave of his stick.

"I can't; the road is choked with mud," said Mr.

"Git out of that or I'll arrest yer," said the policeman, advancing on Mr. Morris.

You may do just as you please about that," retorted the ex-Commissioner. The official hand was laid upon his collar and the official grasp drew him to the Central Park police station. There the sergeant administered a severe reprimand to Mr. Morris, telling him in effect that it was his duly to walk shin-deep in the mud if the Park law required it, and sent him to the Yorkville Police Court. It is scarcely necessary to say that Justice Meade dismissed the case.

NEWARK

The stockholders in the Newark Passenger Railroad Company, whose plant is leased to the Con-olidated Traction Company, have joined hands with the Newark and South Orange Electric Railroad, for protection against the Consolidated Company, which now controls all the local lines except the Newark and South Orange The Newark Passenger Company is fearful that the Consolidated will let the road run down, unless the entire interest can be acquired by the Con solldated, while the South Orange road stockholder expect that the Consolidated will abrogate an agreement permitting them to run cars over the Consoli-dated lines in the centre of the city. If this were done, it would break the South Orange lines in two for about a half mile.

BISHOP SCHEELE WARMLY WELCOMED.

HE ATTENDS A SERVICE IN THE MORNING-A MEETING IN HIS HONOR IN THE AFTERNOON. Bishop von Scheele, of the Lutheran Church in weden, who is making a tour of this country, has met a warm-hearted welcome from the Swedish Lutheran churches of this city. Bishop von Scheele comes as the royal representative to attend the jubilee on the occasion of the 300th anniver-ary of the Upsala Council, when the era of Protestantism in Sweden began, which is to be celebrated this year by the Swedish-American Church. He is sent the request of the Scandinavian Evangelical Lutheran Augustana Synod, of Chicago, and of offi-cials of the Swedish-American Church. The following is the full name and titles of the Bishop: "Knut Henning Gezelius von Scheele, S. T. D., P. H. D., the Right Reverend, the Lord Bishop of Wisby Diocese Sweden; Commander (first-class) of H. M. Nordstjana Order." After the anniversary celebration, at Rock Island, Ill., Bishop von Scheele will visit the World's Fair and then begin his tour. Yesterday morning he attended the services at the Swedish Lutheran Church, Gustavus Adolphus Twenty-second-st., near Third-ave., but he took no part in the services, the sermon being preached by the paster, the Rev. M. Stolpe,

In the afternoon the Bishop was formally welcomed in the name of the Swedish Lutheran Church of America, at the Church of Gustavus Adolphus, which was crowded to its utmost capacity. All the addresses, save one, were in the Swedish language. The Rev. Mr. Stolpe read a poem of welcome. His poetic references to the fatherland brought tears to THE MUD.

John J. Morris, formerly Excise Commissioner, will the eyes of most of his audience. The Rev. Dr. Krotel, of Holy Trinity Lutheran Church, addressed Lutheran Church in America.

Bishop von Scheele, replying in his native tongue, spoke of the intense longing he had always possessed to visit America, and his interest in American in stitutions. The lishop thanked the speakers and the swedish churches for their cordial welcome, and said that he had brought the best wishes of the King of Norway and Sweden to his people in America. Then he discussed the affairs of the Church and the anniversary celebration. Bishop ven Scheele is the first Bishop of the Lutheran Church who has ever come to America, and it is thought that his visit may result in the election of bishops in the Lutheran Church in America. He has the right to install bishops.

To-night a dinner has been arranged by the Martin Luther society in honer of the Bishop, at the Savoy Hotel, Fiftheave, and Fifty-ninth-st., at which a number of prominent men of the Church are expected to be present. Bishop von Scheele, replying in his native tongue,
